Introducing the Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin Cancer Network

The Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin Cancer Network was formed to offer patients at community hospitals access to specialty expertise and extensive resources — through a connection to eastern Wisconsin’s only academic medical center. Through Froedtert & The Medical College, the Cancer Network brings access to more services: nationally known specialists who focus on specific cancers, multidisciplinary interaction for treatment planning, advanced treatments and technologies, and clinical trials that may provide further options for patients.
